Military Review Military Waste The Unexpected Consequences of Permanent War Readiness University of California Press World War III has yet to happen, and yet material evidence of this conflict is strewn everywhere: resting at the bottom of the ocean, rusting in deserts, and floating in near-Earth orbit. In Military Waste, Joshua O. Reno offers a unique analysis of the costs of American war preparation through an examination of the lives and stories of American civilians confronted with what is left over and cast aside when a society is permanently ready for war. Using ethnographic and archival research, Reno demonstrates how obsolete military junk in its various incarnations affects people and places far from the battlegrounds that are ordinarily associated with warfare. Using a broad swath of examples—from excess planes, ships, and space debris that fall into civilian hands, to the dispossessed and polluted island territories once occupied by military bases, to the militarized masculinities of mass shooters—Military Waste reveals the unexpected and open-ended relationships that non-combatants on the home front form with a nation permanently ready for war. Soviet Military Review Military Review A Political and Military Review of the Austro-Italian War of 1866 With an Account of the Garibaldian Expedition to the Tyrol, a Review of the Future Policy of Italy, and Her Present Financial Difficulties Professional Journal of the United States Army Jane's Military Review Janes Information Group This collection of articles discusses the Spanish and Irish armies and includes photographs and information on new equipment, exhibitions, and recent military exercises Professional Journal of the United States Army A Study of the Military Review The Development of a Professional Journal Military law review Military Review, 1944, Vol. 23 Monthly Review of Military Literature (Classic Reprint) Forgotten Books Excerpt from Military Review, 1944, Vol. 23: Monthly Review of Military Literature Second echelons have not yet outlived their usefulness. As it was mentioned above, they may be necessary for battle formations of divisions in attacking fortified areas. But second echelons in large units (corps, army) serve as reserves for feeding the battle with manpower and equipment. They are intended, not for successive blows at one and the same spot of a strong defense, but for maneuvering from within the depth, for the development of a tactical success into an operational one. Such echeloning is an indispensable condition of the success of broad offensive operations. What is the interrelationship between the tactics of maneuvering and the linear infantry battle formations? What is really the advantage of modern battle formations over the multi-echeloned ones? Before taking up these questions, let's. Briefly define linear tactics and tactics of maneuver. New Poem (composed Feb. 1897.) Military Chaplains' Review Waging Gendered Wars U.S. Military Women in Afghanistan and Iraq Ashgate Publishing, Ltd. Waging Gendered Wars examines, through the analytical lens of feminist international relations theory, how U.S. military women have impacted and been affected by the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Although women were barred from serving formally in ground combat positions within the U.S. armed forces during both wars, U.S. female soldiers are being killed in action. By examining how U.S. military women's agency as soldiers, veterans, and casualties of war affect the planning and execution of war, Whaley Eager assesses the ways in which the global world of international politics and warfare has become localized in the life and death narratives of female service personnel impacted by combat experience, homelessness, military sexual trauma, PTSD, and the deaths of fellow soldiers. West's military justice reporter Netherlands Annual Review of Military Studies 2017 Winning Without Killing: The Strategic and Operational Utility of Non-Kinetic Capabilities in Crises T.M.C. Asser Press International conflict resolution increasingly involves the use of non-military power and non-kinetic capabilities alongside military capabilities in the face of hybrid threats. In this book, counter-measures to those threats are addressed by academics with both practical and theoretical experience and knowledge, providing strategic and operational insights into non-kinetic conflict resolution and on the use of power to influence, affect, deter or coerce states and non-state actors. This volume in the NL ARMS series deals with the non-kinetic capabilities to address international crises and conflicts and as always views matters from a global perspective. Included are chapters on the promise, practice and challenges of non-kinetic instruments of power, the instrumentality of soft power, information as a power instrument and manoeuvring in the information environment, Russia's use of deception and misinformation in conflict, applying counter-marketing techniques to fight ISIL, using statistics to profile terrorists, and employing tools such as Actor and Audience Analysis. Such diverse subjects as lawfare, the Law of Armed Conflict rules for non-kinetic cyber attacks, navigation warfare, GPS-spoofing, maritime interception operations, and finally, as a prerequisite, innovative ways for intelligence collection in UN Peacekeeping in Mali come up for discussion. The book will provide both professionals such as (foreign) policy makers and those active in the military services, academics at a master level and those with an interest in military law and the law of armed conflict with useful and up-to-date insights into the wide range of subjects that are contained within it. Paul A.L. Ducheine and Frans P.B. Osinga are General Officers and full professors at the Faculty of Military Sciences of the Netherlands Defence Academy in Breda, The Netherlands. A Political and Military Review of the Austro-Italian War of 1866 Political and Military Sociology, an Annual Review Volume 44, Democracy, Security, and Armed Forces Routledge The latest volume of the Political and Military Sociology annual review features empirical research on topics that focus on security, military training, culture, and the challenges of bureaucracy, law, and violence in democracies. The articles cover an impressive geographic range from Europe to Africa and to the Middle East. Two essays address threats to democratic polities by corrupt governmental and legal institutions and by electoral violence and intimidation. The first argues that a culture of "dualism" in Greece helps produce problems. The second analyzes the power of military student fraternities in Nigeria, arguing that democracy is threatened by these organizations. Two contributors then address the security and military challenges in Iraq. The first argues that successful military advisors must play dual roles as both peacekeeper-diplomats and warriors. The second poses that Iraqi government policies privileging the Shia population have alienated other groups and helped support for groups such as ISIS. The final essay analyzes the acculturation of new soldiers to Zimbabwean military life through the training experiences of recruits. The volume also includes reviews of recent books on military and security matters. Life of Field-Marshal Lord Raglan; with a Review of the Military Operations in the Crimea Military Review, Volume 74, Number 11, November 1994 Military Review is the professional journal of the United States Army. Jane's military review Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals Strategic Review The Process of Strategy Formulation in Complex Organisations Routledge Following careers in the military and in industry, Robert Grattan has devoted himself to the subject of strategy and its related theory through his research into the strategy implementation employed by business, governments and the military. Strategy process is widely studied and taught but, argues Robert Grattan, comprehensive prescriptive theories have yet to be developed. This book is based on analysis of the strategic defence review (SDR) conducted by the UK Ministry of Defence, the methodology for which has been employed in other countries. The study focuses on how the review was managed through the twin lenses of strategic business management theory and the 'Essence of Decision' theory of governmental decision-making closely associated with the John F. Kennedy School of Government in the USA. The author has been fortunate in being granted interviews with the leading figures in Government, the Civil Service and the Military who participated in the SDR process and in having gained access to information in Ministry of Defence files under Freedom of Information legislation. The result is Strategic Review, a book that provides vivid insights into what happened in a large complex organisation during a major strategic review and highlights the problems likely to be encountered during the process of formulating strategy in business, in government, in sport and any other human endeavour. It will appeal to many in business intrigued by the similarities between the issues facing business and military strategists; to those involved in public policy-making; to the defence community; and to academics and higher level students with an interest in this rich field of study. 76th Anniversary Her Majesty's Birthday, May 24th, 1895; Grand Military Review at London, Ont (Classic Reprint) India Pakistan Afghanistan Military Review An Infantry Direct Participant Remembers Barapind Battles Createspace Independent Publishing Platform An Infantry direct participant remembers barapind battles Pakistan Military Review-Raheel Sharif Script CreateSpace VIEWS OF TOP PAKISTANI GENERAL ON RAHEEL SHARIFS CORE TEAM AND HOW FAR HIS SO CALLED VICTORIES IN FATA ARE REAL !
